MEET THE DREAM CHASER

Inspiring kids to chase their dreams and helping those who can't.

Robert Martin, author and child advocate, writes children's books that inspire kids of all ages to chase their dreams and to help those who can't. Out of 75 million children in the United States, there are many who struggle with everyday life and could use encouraging stories to reconnect with their dreams. Thirty million children have had dreams shattered or curtailed by a debilitating chronic disease or disorder. Martin's books help them build self-confidence and courage for the challenges ahead and also helps their classmates gain understanding and empathy to provide much needed support. Additionally, parents, grandparents and caregivers will find useful articles and tools to help young people cope with the big challenges they face in today's world at www.RobertMartinAuthor.com.

Let's Chase Some Dreams!

The Amazing Ninja Brothers Teach Empathy

The Amazing Ninja Brothers series by Robert Martin is here to help and show young readers that children with behavioral issues have minds that work differently. In each of these chapter books for middle grade readers, The Amazing Ninja Brothers share unique and unexpected experiences as they use special powers to help friends with misunderstood challenges.

A NEW APPROACH TO A WIDESPREAD CHALLENGE

The first book in the series, "Entering the Deep Unknown," focuses on Tommy, a child with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD). Approximately 11% of children in the U.S. have been diagnosed with ADHD, making it a highly relevant topic for all children today.

A FAST-PACED, KID-FRIENDLY TALE

"Entering the Deep Unknown" is a fast-paced story that connects with kid's fascination for super heroes while generating thought and discussion about ADHD. It successfully balances action, humor and fantasy to provide readers with a "page-turner" story.

CHILD PROFESSIONAL APPROVED

The author worked closely with child psychology professionals to create a realistic and sensitive portrait of how ADHD affects a child, and the hidden strengths that a mind that works differently can bring to friendship, the classroom and home.

It is truly delightful. I think the topic of ADHD was handled with sensitivity and accuracy. You brought forward so many of the typical traits and described their pros and cons through the eyes of a child very beautifully... I can envision this story being used as a read aloud with guided discussion with a classroom teacher and/or school counselor. It would be so helpful to neurotypical children, and their teachers as well. Empathy can sometimes be in short supply in America's classrooms.

- Lori Riti, principal at De LaSalle Academy, a school of students with minds that work differently in Fort Myers, FL
